Introduction

The Department of Education, Manikpur Anchalik College, Manikpur, organised an Orientation Programme for the students of FYUGP 1st Semester (2026–27) under Gauhati University. The programme was organised to familiarise the newly admitted students with the academic structure, curriculum, credit system and various components of the Four-Year Undergraduate Programme (FYUGP), particularly with regard to Education as Major and Minor subjects.

Objectives of the Programme

The main objectives of the orientation programme were:

1. To introduce the students to the FYUGP academic structure under Gauhati University.
2. To explain the importance and scope of Education as a Major and Minor subject.
3. To familiarise students with the credit system and different curricular components.
4. To explain the roles of Major, Minor, AEC, SEC, VAC and MDC courses.
5. To make students aware of the academic rules, examination system and evaluation process.
6. To motivate students to participate actively in academic and co-curricular activities.
7. To guide students regarding career opportunities and higher studies in the field of Education.

Proceedings of the Programme

The programme commenced with a welcome address by Bodiud Zaman Ahmed, HoD, Education Department. The students of FYUGP 1st Semester were warmly welcomed to the Department of Education and introduced to the faculty members.

A detailed orientation session was conducted on the FYUGP structure under Gauhati University. The students were explained the significance of the Major and Minor subjects and their role in the undergraduate programme.

The faculty members also explained the credit system, semester-wise academic requirements, internal assessment, end-semester examination, attendance requirements and other academic responsibilities of the students. Special emphasis was given to the selection and study of Education as Major and Minor.

The students were also introduced to the different curricular components such as Ability Enhancement Course (AEC), Skill Enhancement Course (SEC), Value Added Course (VAC), and Multidisciplinary Course (MDC). The importance of maintaining regular attendance, participating in classroom activities, completing assignments and preparing for examinations was highlighted.

The programme also provided students with an opportunity to interact with the faculty members and clarify their doubts regarding the FYUGP curriculum, course selection, credits and academic progression.

Education as Major and Minor

The students were informed that Education as a Major provides an opportunity for in-depth study of educational concepts, theories, psychology, philosophy, sociology, assessment and other important areas of education. Education as a Minor provides students with foundational knowledge and understanding of the educational process and its applications.

The students were encouraged to develop interest in educational studies and to explore future opportunities in teaching, educational administration, counselling, research, competitive examinations and higher education.

Outcome of the Programme

The orientation programme was successful in creating awareness among the newly admitted students about the FYUGP system and the academic structure of the Department of Education. The students gained a
